01 Meeting new colleagues

You can use formal or informal English to introduce yourself and greet colleagues or co-workers, depending on the situation and the people you are meeting.

-  New language Alphabet and spelling
- Aa Vocabulary Introductions and greetings
-  New skill Introducing yourself to co-workers

1.1 KEY LANGUAGE INTRODUCING YOURSELF

English uses a variety of polite phrases for introducing yourself and greeting your co-workers.

This is a formal greeting. You can also say "Good afternoon" and "Good evening."

Good morning.
My name is
Alisha Sharma.

Hello, Alisha. My name's Tom Robinson.

This is an informal greeting.

Hi, I'm Lee.

Hi, Lee. I'm Jana.

This is an informal way
to say your name.

I'm Sally James.

You can also say "It's nice to meet you."

It's good to meet you, Sally.

"Hello" can be used in formal and informal situations.

Hello. My name's Carla.

"I'm" is implied
before "pleased."

Pleased to meet you.

This is a formal way
to say your name.

My name is Sidique Ali.

This is very formal.

It's a pleasure to meet you, Mr. Ali.

You can also say
"Good to meet you"
or "Nice to meet you."

Great to meet you.

This means "Great to meet you, too."

You too.

Using titles and last names is very formal.

1.2 FILL IN THE GAPS USING THE WORDS IN THE PANEL

02 Everyday work activities

Use the present simple to talk about things that you do regularly, such as your daily tasks or everyday work routines.

 New language Present simple

 Vocabulary Work activities

 New skill Talking about workplace routines

2.1 KEY LANGUAGE THE PRESENT SIMPLE

Use the present simple to talk about things that happen regularly as part of a routine.

Every morning, we prepare the food and Justin sets the tables.

2.2 HOW TO FORM THE PRESENT SIMPLE

With regular verbs, use the base form of the verb to make the present simple with "I," "you," "we," and "they." With "he," "she," and "it," add "s" to the base form.

SUBJECT

VERB

REST OF SENTENCE

I / You / We / They

Our Head of Customer Services describes a typical working day

Sumiko Akimoto, our Head of Customer Services, describes a typical day at work. "Every morning, even in the winter, I ride my bicycle to work. I arrive at work early and then walk through the departments to talk to the staff. It is important for me to know what is happening in the company so that I can share any useful information with clients. Next, I read my emails and use them to help me write a list of things to do during the day. I rarely do everything on the list, but it's useful to help me plan my day.

During my morning coffee break, I talk to my team members about my list and sometimes delegate tasks to them. At lunchtime, many of my colleagues go to a local Italian restaurant to eat, but I stay in the office and eat a packed lunch. I like to deal with all my emails by 5 o'clock. Sometimes I can leave work at 5:30, but I usually leave at 6 o'clock. To help me relax after work, I turn off my phone as soon as I get home."

Sumiko cycles to work every day.

About us

Established in 1965, Guitar City makes guitars for some of the most famous musicians in the world. The award-winning Greek guitarist Giorgio Michalis always uses our guitars and believes that they are the best that he has ever played. "The sound of all my Guitar City guitars is amazing," he says.

Our guitars are mostly made from recycled aluminum and are much lighter than the usual, wooden ones. Pete Donnelly from our production department also says that these guitars are better for the environment. "We do not use any wooden materials from rainforests and we make all the main guitar body parts from recycled materials."

Guitar City guitars also look really great. They do not have the natural beauty of wood, but each guitar is hand painted by a top artist from our creative design team. With artists from Kenya, Poland, Mexico, and Laos, we have designs to suit everyone.

06 Asking questions at work

It is important to use the correct word order and question words in English questions, depending on whether the questions are open-ended.

 New language Forming questions

 Vocabulary Office equipment

 New skill Asking colleagues questions

6.1 KEY LANGUAGE SIMPLE QUESTIONS WITH "TO BE"

Is this where I can pay?

No. Our machines are broken.

Are the meeting rooms all busy?

Yes. I'm afraid so.

6.2 HOW TO FORM SIMPLE QUESTIONS WITH "TO BE"

In a statement, the subject comes before the verb. In a question, the subject and verb swap places.

This is where I can pay.

Is this where I can pay?

Verb

Subject

6.3 REWRITE THE QUESTIONS, PUTTING THE WORDS IN THE CORRECT ORDER

this is desk? my

Is this my desk?

1 open? windows the Are

2 phone working? Is your

3 your files? these Are

4 that Is drawer locked?

5 desk his clean? Is

6.4 KEY LANGUAGE SIMPLE QUESTIONS WITH "DO"

To form questions in sentences without the verb "to be," start the question with "do" or "does."

Do you have an appointment?

No. Could I make one for today, please?

Does he work with you?

Yes, he works in my office.

6.5 HOW TO FORM SIMPLE QUESTIONS WITH "DO"

"Does" is the third person form of "do."

Use the base form of the verb.

6.6 FILL IN THE GAPS USING "DO" OR "DOES"

_____ Do _____ they come in early?

- _____ he have a key for this drawer?
- _____ your laptop have a DVD drive?
- _____ Jim and Tom have new screens?
- _____ you keep pens in your desk drawer?
- _____ Sarah write the minutes?
- _____ all employees have wall calendars?

6.7 LISTEN TO THE AUDIO AND NUMBER THE QUESTIONS IN THE ORDER YOU HEAR THEM

Karen has just started a new job and asks her colleague Kim some questions about the company.

- Are the refreshments in the kitchen free?
- Do you have parties for everyone?
- Are there weekly team meetings?
- Is there a code for the Wi-Fi?
- Does the CEO visit the office regularly?

6.8 KEY LANGUAGE ASKING OPEN QUESTIONS

Use question words such as "when," "where," "how," or "why" to ask questions that can't be answered with "yes" or "no."

Where is the staff room?

Go down to the second floor.

When does Mia start work?

She usually starts at nine.

6.9 FURTHER EXAMPLES OPEN QUESTIONS

The auxiliary "do / does" comes before the subject.

How does the scanner work?

What would you like to drink?

Invert the subject and the verb to form open questions with "to be."

Where is the cafeteria?

Why is he late?

The main verb comes at the end in questions without "to be."

Who is giving the presentation?

When does the meeting start?

6.10 CROSS OUT THE INCORRECT WORD IN EACH QUESTION

When / ~~What~~ are you going on vacation?

1 Where / How are the cups?

2 Who / What is the photocopier code?

3 Why / How do I turn off the screen?

4 Why / Who is this drawer always locked?

5 Where / When does the cafeteria open?

6 Why / Who do I ask for printer ink?

7 What / When do you discuss at meetings?

6.11 MATCH THE QUESTIONS TO THE CORRECT ANSWERS

Where is the stationery cabinet?

You need to talk to Anne in HR.

1 Who do I ask about taking a day off?

So that Marie can control the stock.

2 When is the restaurant usually busy?

It's across from the meeting room.

3 Why is the stationery cabinet locked?

At 2 o'clock. We usually start on time.

4 How does this coffee machine work?

It's always full on weekend evenings.

5 What time does the meeting start?

Turn it on and then select your drink.

6.12 MARK THE QUESTIONS THAT ARE CORRECT

Who is in your team?

What is in your team?

What I can do to help you?

What can I do to help you?

Do you know where the key is?

Does you know where the key is?

07 Exchanging details

When making new business contacts, there are several phrases you can use to ask for their details and offer yours in return.

 New language Short answers

Aa Vocabulary Contact information

 New skill Exchanging contact details

7.1 KEY LANGUAGE EXCHANGING CONTACT DETAILS

It is useful to know how to ask for contact information from a client or co-worker. Certain stock phrases can be adapted to many different situations.

These products look great!
Do you have a website?

In UK English, "Have you got...?" is also common.

Yes! Here's my card with all the details.

How can I reach you for more information?

"Give me a ring" is also common, particularly in UK English.

Just give me a call.

Call me. Here's my number.

Drop me a line.

7.2 VOCABULARY BUSINESS CARDS

13.14 KEY LANGUAGE POSSESSIVE APOSTROPHE

Add an apostrophe and the letter "s" to the end of a singular noun to show that what comes after the noun belongs to it.

Jeremy is Pepe's line manager.

[Jeremy is the line manager of Pepe.]

Apostrophe with an "s" signifies ownership.

To show belonging with a plural noun, just add an apostrophe after the "s."

Jeremy is my colleagues' line manager.

[Jeremy is the line manager of multiple people.]

Add an apostrophe with no "s" to plural nouns.

13.15 COMMON MISTAKES POSSESSIVE APOSTROPHE

Never use an apostrophe and "s" after a plural noun in a statement which does not express possession.

"Colleagues" is a plural noun, but it does not refer to possession here.

My colleagues are late. ✓

Employees have schedules and workplaces also have their own routines and timetables. It is useful to be able to talk to colleagues about when things usually happen.

-  New language Prepositions of time
- Aa Vocabulary Commuting and transportation
-  New skill Describing routines

15.1 KEY LANGUAGE PREPOSITIONS OF TIME

Use prepositions to give more information about when something happens.

"On" is often used before days and dates to say when something happens.

"At" is used to say what time something happens.

There is a staff meeting on Mondays at 10 o'clock.

When you use "on" with a day of the week, add "-s" to the day to show that the thing happens regularly.

15.2 KEY LANGUAGE MORE PREPOSITIONS OF TIME

Use "by" to say when something will be completed. It means "before."

I need to finish this by 3pm.

NOW

3PM

"Before" describes something that happens prior to something else.

I can't do it before I take my break.

BREAK

"After" refers to an event that follows something else.

After my break I have to clear up.

15.3 REWRITE THE SENTENCES, PUTTING THE WORDS IN THE CORRECT ORDER

15.4 KEY LANGUAGE PREPOSITIONS SHOWING DURATION

"From" is used to say the time something starts.

I work from 9am to 5pm.

9 AM 5PM

When used with "and," "between" is used to say when something starts.

I work between 9am and 5pm.

9 AM 5PM

"Until" is used to say when an ongoing situation finishes.

I will be working until five o'clock.

9 AM 5PM

"Since" is used to say when an ongoing situation started.

I have been working since 9am.

9 AM NOW

"For" describes how long something has been happening.

I have been working for six hours.

6 HOURS AGO NOW

"During" describes when something was happening.

I relaxed during my break.

BREAK NOW

15.5 CROSS OUT THE INCORRECT WORD IN EACH SENTENCE, THEN SAY THE SENTENCES OUT LOUD

3 I have been here since / for 5am this morning.

4 Do not leave the building until / for you have signed out.

5 The office is closed from Friday to / and Monday.

15.6 KEY LANGUAGE GETTING TO WORK

There are a number of ways to describe how you get to work.

Use "take" and "catch" with forms of transportation that you do not drive or control.

I walk to work.

I cycle to work.

I drive to work.

I take the metro.

When talking with colleagues about your hobbies and habits, you may want to use adverbs of frequency to say how often you do the activities.

-  New language Adverbs of frequency
-  Vocabulary Hobbies and habits
-  New skill Talking about free time

17.1 VOCABULARY ADVERBS OF FREQUENCY

Some adverbs tell you how frequently something happens. "Always" and "never" are definite. Others, like "sometimes," are less specific. Their position in a sentence depends on the main verbs and auxiliaries.

100%

I always go to the gym after work.

Adverbs go after the verb "be."

I am usually happy to stay at home in the evening.

Adverbs go before other main verbs.

My company frequently organizes sponsored walks.

I often play computer games at home.

"Sometimes" and "often" can also go at the beginning or end of the sentence.

My team goes out for a meal sometimes.

My wife and I occasionally go cycling together.

I rarely work weekends if I have a choice.

I have never played golf with my boss. I'm terrible at it!

17.4 KEY LANGUAGE SUPERLATIVE ADJECTIVES

Superlative adjectives are used to compare two or more objects, people, or places. The superlative describes the most extreme.

"The" is used before a superlative.

Friday nights are always the loudest.

This is the most interesting gallery in town.

Long adjectives take "the most" or "the least" before the adjective to form the superlative.

17.5 HOW TO FORM SUPERLATIVE ADJECTIVES

For most short adjectives, "-est" is added to make the superlative. There are different spelling rules depending on the ending of the simple form of the adjective.

large

largest

If the adjective ends in "-e," "-st" is added.

easy

easiest

For some adjectives ending in "-y," the "-y" is removed and "-iest" added.

hot hottest

For adjectives ending consonant-vowel-consonant, the last letter is doubled and "-est" is added.

17.6 FURTHER EXAMPLES SUPERLATIVE ADJECTIVES

That's the longest run I've ever done!

I go to the newest gym in town.

The earliest train is at 4am.

This is the biggest launch to date.

That's the most expensive item!

It's the least exciting party ever.

"The least" has the opposite meaning from "the most."

17.7 KEY LANGUAGE IRREGULAR SUPERLATIVE ADJECTIVES

Some common adjectives (usually short words) have superlatives that do not follow the rules.

ADJECTIVE	bad	good	little	much	far
	↓	↓	↓	↓	↓
SUPERLATIVE	worst	best	least	most	farthest (US) furthest (UK)

Sadim Nalik: Mailroom to boardroom

He started in the mailroom at his father's company, but Sadim Nalik is now a respected business executive. He tells us what he learned from his first job.

I always wanted to work in my father's company, but my father told me that I had to go to college first. He always said that education was the most important thing in life. He taught himself to read and write and wanted the very best for me. I chose to study engineering in college. When I left college with a top degree, I thought that my father would give me a good job in his company. I remember he sent me an email congratulating me on my university success and offering me a job in the mailroom at the company. I felt really angry at the time because I wanted a better job. I wrote to my father that I would look for a job at another company. He then called me and said I could one day be CEO, but only if I knew the company from top to bottom. After the mailroom, I worked in the kitchen, in the HR department, as a personal assistant, and as his deputy CEO. I finally understood what hard work was like in different areas of the company. The experience taught me to respect all employees and understand that every part of the company must be working well for the whole company to succeed. My father made me CEO five years ago and my daughter, Myra, began working in the mailroom two months ago.

A slice of the market

This week, we look at the history of Cake & Crumb

CAKE & CRUMB IS NOW one of the biggest and most popular bakeries in the US. Last year, the company reported a record rise in profits. But Cake & Crumb had much smaller beginnings.

Ahmed Hassan founded the company in 2003. At first, Ahmed worked from his kitchen in his small apartment and sold cakes to customers online. In the company's first year, sales remained steady, but in 2005, sales increased and Ahmed opened the first Cake & Crumb store.

Now, the company has stores all over the US. By 2010, Cake & Crumb employed 2,000 bakers. Two years ago, the company launched a catering service for children's parties. With the launch of this service and rebranding, Cake & Crumb became one of the most successful companies in the catering industry.

23 Talking about your plans

One way of making plans with a co-worker or client is by using the present continuous to talk about what you are doing at the moment, or plans in the future.

-  New language The present continuous
- Aa Vocabulary Making arrangements
-  New skill Talking about your plans

23.1 KEY LANGUAGE THE PRESENT CONTINUOUS

The present continuous is mostly used to describe ongoing events that are happening right now.

Are you busy at the moment?

Yes, I'm writing this report for Susan.

23.2 HOW TO FORM THE PRESENT CONTINUOUS

Short form of "I am."

This is the present participle. It is the same as the gerund ("-ing") form.

23.3 FURTHER EXAMPLES THE PRESENT CONTINUOUS

She's having lunch downtown.

They're having a discussion.

He is printing the report.

She is meeting a new client.

We are not enjoying this meal.

I'm not working on my own.

Add "not" after "be" to make the negative.

23.4 LISTEN TO THE AUDIO, THEN NUMBER THE PICTURES IN THE ORDER THEY ARE DESCRIBED

23.5 FILL IN THE GAPS BY PUTTING THE VERBS IN THE PRESENT CONTINUOUS

The team isn't having (not have) much success this year, so we are trying (try) new things.

- 1 Sales _____ (increase) at the moment, so we _____ (get) a bigger bonus.
- 2 Fashions _____ (change), so we _____ (adapt) to new trends.
- 3 Travel costs _____ (rise) this year, so we _____ (call) each other more instead.
- 4 Profits _____ (drop), so we _____ (cut) costs in all areas of the business.
- 5 We _____ (sell) a lot to Asia, so we _____ (plan) to open an office there next year.
- 6 I can't believe you _____ (work) late. You _____ (miss) the staff party!
- 7 I _____ (wait) for my interview to start, and I _____ (feel) nervous.
- 8 The company _____ (lose) money, so we _____ (consider) a restructure.

23.6 KEY LANGUAGE QUESTIONS IN THE PRESENT CONTINUOUS

Questions in the present continuous can be formed by inverting the subject and "be," adding a question word for open questions.

To turn a statement into a question, swap the subject and "be."

Question words can be used before the verb to form open questions.

Subject and "be" are inverted.

Who are we waiting for?

I'm not sure. Is James coming to this meeting?

23.7 HOW TO FORM QUESTIONS IN THE PRESENT CONTINUOUS

No, it's out of toner. I'm refilling it now.

Yes, I think he is.

There is no hot water left.

23.10 REWRITE THE STATEMENTS AS QUESTIONS IN THE PRESENT CONTINUOUS WITHOUT USING QUESTION WORDS

Mariam is working on the new project today.

Is Mariam working on the new project today?

- 1 The company is buying everyone new laptops.
- 2 Maria is giving her first presentation at the moment.
- 3 Rakesh is designing the packaging for the new gadget.
- 4 We are all going to the team meeting now.
- 5 They are trying to improve sales in North America.

23.11 KEY LANGUAGE THE PRESENT CONTINUOUS FOR FUTURE ARRANGEMENTS

You can also use the present continuous to talk about fixed future plans. A clear date, day, or time is normally given.

I'm free next week.
What are you doing on Monday?

I'm working from home all day.

This refers to fixed plans that have already been made.

Specific time reference is given.

24 Giving opinions

English speakers often use set phrases to signal that they want to interrupt without being rude. There are a number of ways to communicate your opinion politely.

 New language Interruptions and opinions

 Vocabulary Environmental issues

 New skill Giving opinions politely

24.1 KEY LANGUAGE INTERRUPTING POLITELY

First, try to catch the speaker's eye or raise your hand. If you still do not get the chance to speak, starting your sentence with one of these phrases will help your interruption be polite.

24.2 MARK WHETHER EACH INTERRUPTION IS POLITE OR IMPOLITE

"Could I just say, this isn't the only option."

Polite Impolite

1 "What? I don't agree at all."

Polite Impolite

2 "I'm sorry, but I agree with Nick on this point."

24.3 KEY LANGUAGE EXCHANGING OPINIONS

It is also important to introduce your opinion respectfully, and it is polite to ask others for their thoughts.

You can soften your interruption by introducing your point politely.

In my opinion we need to focus on recycling.

What do you think?

Follow up your comments by asking others for their opinions.

24.4 FURTHER EXAMPLES EXCHANGING OPINIONS

Protect yourself at workHow to prevent accidents in the workplace

We spend a lot of our time at work, so it is not surprising that we have accidents there. But what can you do to protect yourself and help your co-workers protect themselves from injury? The first thing is to make sure that your company follows all the sensible health and safety regulations. Most accidents are caused by slips, trips, lifting, and carrying. If you do hurt yourself at work, report it to your employer and don't blame yourself. You could ask to take a first aid course so that you can protect and, if necessary, treat yourself and your co-workers.

27 Suggestions and advice

When there are everyday problems in the workplace, it is useful to know how to make suggestions and offer advice. There are several ways to do this in English.

-  New language Prefixes and suffixes
- Aa Vocabulary Everyday workplace problems
-  New skill Making suggestions

27.1 KEY LANGUAGE MAKING SUGGESTIONS

You can use a number of phrases to offer advice or make suggestions. Some of these take the base form of the verb, and others need the "-ing" form.

"How about" and "what about" take the "-ing" form of the verb.

How about putting the video online?

This structure is useful for more informal suggestions.

Good idea! What about trying the new software?

Use "we" and "us" to make a suggestion for collaborative action.

Why don't we make this a weekly meeting?

Let's ask the others for their opinions.

We could use the spare meeting room.

27.2 HOW TO FORM SUGGESTIONS

When making a suggestion, the form of the verb depends on who you are addressing.

Informal suggestions take the "-ing" form of the verb.

Use the base form when suggesting a group action with "we" or "us."

27.3 REWRITE THE SENTENCES, PUTTING THE WORDS IN THE CORRECT ORDER

3 about a consultant? software What hiring

27.4 KEY LANGUAGE OFFERING ADVICE WITH "SHOULD" + BASE FORM

One way to offer stronger advice is using "should" or "shouldn't," which suggests negative consequences if ignored.

You should try to keep the meeting short.

Base form of main verb

27.5 MATCH THE WORKPLACE PROBLEMS TO THE SUGGESTIONS AND ADVICE

The printer is broken.

1 The internet is down again.

4 The fridge door has been open all day.

5 Jeremy sits at the computer all day.

You should reset the router.

I should order some more.

We should call an engineer.

She should tell him before he sees it.

He should walk around the office.

We should throw away the food.

27.6 KEY LANGUAGE CHANGING MEANING WITH PREFIXES AND SUFFIXES

Prefixes and suffixes change the meaning of words that they are added to. Sometimes this also changes the word's form (such as from a noun to an adjective).

There are several prefixes that can be used to form a new word with the opposite meaning.

27.7 FILL IN THE GAPS USING THE WORDS IN THE PANEL

29 Rules and requests

Use "can" and "have to" to talk about rules in the workplace, and verbs such as "could" to politely ask colleagues to help you solve problems.

 New language Modal verbs

 Vocabulary Polite requests

 New skill Talking about rules and regulations

29.1 KEY LANGUAGE MODAL VERBS FOR PERMISSION

Use "can" to give a colleague permission to do something.

You can take your lunch break at 1 o'clock.

Use "can't" to say that a colleague is not allowed to do something.

There's a business dress code here. You can't wear shorts to work.

"Have to" expresses a strong obligation to do something.

That's the fire alarm! We have to leave the store now.

"Don't have to" means that something is not necessary.

You don't have to stay late tonight. We're not very busy.

29.2 MATCH THE PAIRS OF SENTENCES THAT GO TOGETHER

You can listen to music at work.

It's a special one for fire safety.

1 You have to close that door.

We're meeting clients later this afternoon.

2 You don't have to eat at your desk.

Just make sure it's not too loud.

3 You can't leave early today.

I have saved all the documents.

4 You can shut the computers down.

There's a nice café across the street.

29.3 FILL IN THE GAPS USING THE WORDS IN THE PANEL

You can't park your car there. It's the CEO's space.

1 Is your stapler broken? You _____ use mine.

2 She _____ come to the training session. She did it last year.

3 You _____ turn off the light if you're the last person to leave the office.

4 He _____ test the fire alarm every Wednesday morning.

5 We _____ wear a jacket and tie to work in the summer months.

~~can't~~ have to has to don't have to can doesn't have to

- You can keep any tips given by customers
- You can't use bad language in the restaurant
- You have to clean the kitchen before you leave
- And remember that you have to wash your hands before and after touching food

29.5 KEY LANGUAGE POLITE REQUESTS WITH MODAL VERBS

Use "Could you" with a base verb, or "Would you mind" with a gerund, to politely ask for help with problems at work.

TIP

Business English rarely uses negative forms of these requests because they are less polite than the positive forms.

We've run out of hangers. { Could you order
Would you mind ordering } some more?

29.6 HOW TO FORM POLITE REQUESTS WITH MODAL VERBS

This form is particularly polite.

29.7 FURTHER EXAMPLES POLITE REQUESTS WITH MODAL VERBS

This box is really heavy.
Could you help me lift it?

I can't find my stapler.
Could you lend me yours, please?

You can add "please" to make requests more polite.

The clients are here early.
Would you mind making them tea and coffee?

Our card machine isn't working.
Would you mind paying with cash?

29.8 CROSS OUT THE INCORRECT WORD IN EACH SENTENCE

31 Discussing issues

Many common workplace problems arise from an ongoing situation in the past. You can use the past continuous tense to discuss these problems.

-  New language Past continuous
-  Vocabulary Work idioms
-  New skill Describing workplace problems

31.1 KEY LANGUAGE THE PAST CONTINUOUS

Use the past continuous to describe problems or situations that were ongoing in the past, but are now finished.

The action started in the past and continued for some time.

This morning was awful. My managers were complaining about my work.

31.2 FURTHER EXAMPLES THE PAST CONTINUOUS

Last week I was reading all your emails about problems with co-workers. Most of us know someone in the office who can be a little bit lazy sometimes, but Maria wrote last week to say that her co-worker was not answering important emails and leaving Maria to reply to all the sales enquiries. Well, my advice, Maria, is to talk to your co-worker first. Perhaps he was going through a difficult time. I know it is difficult if your co-worker is also your friend, but you must make sure that you don't end up doing your work and his as well!

Remember José from last month, who was feeling very tired after lunch every day? Well, he did change his diet so that he ate more salads and vegetables and said last week that he was working until 5pm every day without feeling exhausted. Great news, José!

A healthy lunch will give you more energy at work

Subject: Work stress

Hi Faruk,
 It's great to hear from you. I am still working around the clock on the project we were talking about. I am trying to design the packaging for the new health tracker watch, but time's running out. Every time I show the marketing department a design, people send me so many new emails that I feel snowed under. I'm so up to my ears with silly emails that I can't do any real work for the project. This means even though I'm always on the go, I don't seem to get much work done. My husband, Mark, says that I should take it easy because I'm quite stressed and miserable at home too, but I find it hard to wind down on weekends. I know you've worked in marketing for a long time, and just wondered if you have any advice for me?
 Thanks so much, Gloria

🧩 Describing workplace problems

32 Apologies and explanations

English uses a variety of polite phrases to apologize for mistakes. Use the past continuous with the past simple to offer an explanation for a mistake.

 New language Past continuous and past simple

 Vocabulary Workplace mistakes

 New skill Apologizing and giving explanations

32.1 KEY LANGUAGE APOLOGIES AND RESPONSES

There are many formal and informal phrases that you can use to make and respond to apologies. Responses can either accept the apology to end the conversation, or reject it to ask for further action.

ACCEPTING APOLOGIES

This makes the apology stronger.

I'm really sorry
I left all those boxes in your way.

That's all right.
I'll help you move them.

This is a more formal apology.

I would like to apologize for keeping you waiting so long.

Don't worry. I could see that you were busy.

TIP

"No problem" is another useful phrase for accepting apologies, but this is very informal.

REJECTING APOLOGIES

This also makes the apology stronger.

I'm so sorry
I'm late.

OK, but please make sure it doesn't happen again.
There's a lot to do this week.

This is an emphatic formal apology.

I really must apologize if your vase was broken when it arrived.

I'm afraid that's not good enough.
I want a refund.

Aa 32.2 MATCH THE APOLOGIES WITH THE CORRECT RESPONSES

I'm really sorry I'm late.

1 I do apologize. I've left the files at home.

2 I'm sorry. I've forgotten your last name.

3 I would like to apologize for the bad line.

4 I'm really sorry. I think I'm very early.

5 I'm so sorry. I took your cup accidentally.

Don't worry. I have copies of them here.

No need. The signal's always bad here.

That's all right. My train was delayed too.

Never mind. I've got myself another one.

No problem. It's Carson.

That's OK. We can have coffee first.

2 I'm afraid that's not good _____. I want my money back.

3 I would like to _____ for the rudeness of our receptionist.

4 That's OK, but please make _____ it doesn't happen again.

32.5 KEY LANGUAGE PAST CONTINUOUS AND PAST SIMPLE

Many workplace mistakes are caused by an unexpected event that interrupts something else. English uses the past continuous and past simple together to describe this.

Past continuous

Past simple

I'm so sorry. I was writing an email when I spilled water on my keyboard.

32.6 FURTHER EXAMPLES PAST CONTINUOUS AND PAST SIMPLE

I was working on my presentation when the CEO called me.

The courier was driving to your office when her van got a flat tire.

To: Kim May

Subject: Apologies

Dear Kim,

I'm writing to apologize about the season's sales report going missing. It was entirely my fault and I really am sorry for all the disruption it caused to you and our colleagues yesterday.

I was editing the report yesterday when my computer crashed. I thought I was working on a copy of the report, so when my computer restarted, I chose not to save it. Clearly, I was working on the only master copy and accidentally deleted it from all the computers.

I will rewrite the report and now back up all my work to an external hard drive every thirty minutes so that this will not happen again.

Once again, please accept my apologies.

Best wishes,

Tam

33 Tasks and targets

When you are dealing with deadlines and pressure at work, you can use the present perfect to let your co-workers know how your work is progressing.

 New language Present perfect and past simple

 Vocabulary Workplace tasks

 New skill Discussing achievements at work

33.1 KEY LANGUAGE THE PRESENT PERFECT

Use the present perfect to talk about whether or not tasks are completed or goals have been met. Use "yet" for things that you expect to happen, and "just" for recent events.

Have you finished packing all the boxes?

Add "not" or its short form after "have" to form negatives.

Yes, I have, but I haven't put them in the van yet.

Use "yet" in negative sentences or questions.

In questions, the subject sits between "have" and the past participle.

Have you sold any of our bags today?

Yes, I have. That lady has just bought one.

Add "just" after "has" or "have."

33.2 HOW TO FORM THE PRESENT PERFECT

SUBJECT

"HAVE / HAS"

PAST PARTICIPLE

REST OF SENTENCE

I have finished

packing the boxes.

Use "have" or "has" depending on the subject.

Most past participles are formed by adding "ed" to the main verb.

33.3 FILL IN THE GAPS BY PUTTING THE VERBS IN THE PRESENT PERFECT

We have stopped (stop) cleaning the windows because it's raining.

1 Adrian _____ (make) three flower arrangements already today.

2 I _____ (start) work on the report, but I won't finish it tonight.

3 Leah _____ (cut) four people's hair so far this afternoon.

4 It's early. We _____ (not speak) to any customers yet.

33.4 CROSS OUT THE INCORRECT WORD IN EACH SENTENCE

33.6 KEY LANGUAGE PRESENT PERFECT AND PAST SIMPLE

Use the present perfect to talk about tasks you completed recently that still have an impact in the present.

PAST

Have you fixed Mr. Novak's car?

NOW

Yes, I have.

We do not know when the car was fixed.

You can use the past simple to specify when something in the past happened.

2:30

When did you fix it? He's been calling me all day.

NOW

We do know when the car was fixed.

I fixed it at 2:30. Sorry for not telling you.

34 Dealing with complaints

If a customer complains about a problem, one way to offer a solution, and to make predictions or promises, is to use the future with "will."

-  New language The future with "will"
-  Vocabulary Complaints and apologies
-  New skill Dealing with complaints

34.1 KEY LANGUAGE THE FUTURE WITH "WILL"

Use the future with "will" to make a promise to resolve a customer's problem.

I called a taxi half an hour ago, and it hasn't arrived yet.

Use "will" to make a promise and offer a solution.

I'm very sorry about that. I will contact the driver immediately.

34.2 HOW TO FORM THE FUTURE WITH "WILL"

"Will" is a modal verb, so its form doesn't change with the subject.

SUBJECT	"WILL"	BASE FORM OF VERB	REST OF SENTENCE
I	will	contact	the driver.
The company	will	contact	the driver.

34.3 FURTHER EXAMPLES THE FUTURE WITH "WILL"

4 What was Ms. Chang's second complaint?

5 What will the hotel do in the future?

6 What has the company given Ms. Chang?

Dear Ms. Chang,

Thank you very much for your letter of September 24 regarding your walking tour last month. We were very upset to hear that you did not enjoy your vacation, and we take full responsibility for the problems that you experienced.

We were sorry to hear that no one responded to your phone calls on the contact number that you were given when you arrived. We will ensure that every customer is now given a second contact number. Regarding the lack of a vegetarian option in the hotel restaurant, the hotel promises that they will offer both vegetarian and vegan options from now on.

By way of an apology, we have included a voucher worth $200 off your next trip with us.

Yours sincerely,

We will refund it to your credit card.

I'll talk to him about his bad attitude.

We'll give you money off your next trip.

They'll be with you as soon as possible.

I'll take it back to the kitchen.

We'll replace them with bigger ones.

34.6 KEY LANGUAGE MAKING PREDICTIONS

You can also use "will" to make predictions about the future.

Yes, it will. I'm on my way now.

Use "I'm afraid" to apologize.

Short form of "will not."

No, I'm afraid it won't. The traffic is terrible.

36 Making travel arrangements

When you have travel plans or want to discuss the arrangements for a trip, it is useful to be able to talk about the possible results of actions and choices.

 New language Zero and first conditional

 Vocabulary Travel

 New skill Talking about actions and results

36.1 KEY LANGUAGE THE FIRST CONDITIONAL

You can use the first conditional when you want to describe a realistic action and a future result that it might lead to.

36.2 HOW TO FORM THE FIRST CONDITIONAL

The first conditional is usually introduced by "if" followed by the present simple. The future with "will" expresses the result.

36.3 FURTHER EXAMPLES THE FIRST CONDITIONAL

If you book in advance, you will get a discount.

If they bring a lot of equipment, we will need a bigger suitcase.

If the trip is long, I will probably fall asleep.

We will be late for the flight if we don't leave soon.

You can put the "if" clause at the end of the sentence if you remove the comma.

36.6 KEY LANGUAGE THE ZERO CONDITIONAL

You can use the zero conditional to talk about things that are generally true, or to describe the direct result of an action.

If your bag weighs too much, we charge a fee.

36.7 HOW TO FORM THE ZERO CONDITIONAL

The zero conditional uses "if" or "when" with the present simple, followed by the present simple in the main clause.

36.8 FURTHER EXAMPLES THE ZERO CONDITIONAL

If you book online, flights are often cheaper.

When I pack in a hurry, I sometimes forget my passport.

The airport has a shower if you need to freshen up.

37 Asking for directions

When traveling to conferences and meetings, you may need to ask for directions. Knowing how to be polite but clear is essential.

-  New language Imperatives, prepositions of place
- Aa Vocabulary Directions
-  New skill Asking for and giving directions

37.1 KEY LANGUAGE ASKING FOR AND GIVING DIRECTIONS

When you ask for directions, be polite and listen carefully to the response. Imperatives are often used to give directions.

Excuse me, do you know the way to the conference hall?

To form imperatives, use the base form of the verb (without "to").

Yes, go straight ahead.

This is a polite way to make sure that you have heard directions correctly.

Sorry, did you say it's next to the park?

Yes, that's right.

You can approach someone with "excuse me" or "sorry" to ask politely for directions.

Excuse me, do you know how to get to the hotel?

Yes, take the first right on Main Street.

Add "don't" to make an imperative negative.

So it's on the left, after the station?

No, don't turn left. Take the first right.

37.2 FURTHER EXAMPLES GIVING DIRECTIONS WITH IMPERATIVES

Stop at the hotel.

Turn left at the sign.

Go past the restaurant.

Wait at the gate.

Take the second right.

Hotel Gwesty: Review by Hugh Jenkins, CEO TotalData
The hotel is very conveniently located, less than two miles from the airport. From the moment we checked in, I was impressed by the staff's professional manner. They immediately took us to the meeting room to look around before our clients arrived. The meeting room was comfortable and had all the equipment we needed for presentations and discussions. Throughout the day, we had refreshments provided in the room and an excellent buffet lunch. Our clients were happy and we will be returning here for future meetings.

Hotel Plaza: Review by Sue Vardy, Director Centria32
The best part of our stay here was checking out! We booked this hotel to launch our new product, and it was a disaster. Our conference room was very dark and there was no Wi-Fi or internet connection at all. We could not turn the projector on, the furniture was falling apart, and worst of all, they forgot to pick up our client from the airport! A horrible place!

40.3 KEY LANGUAGE "A," "SOME," "ANY"

In English, nouns can either be countable, meaning they can be easily counted, or uncountable, meaning they aren't usually counted individually. Use "a" or "an" with single countable nouns. Use "some" with plural countable nouns and uncountable nouns. Use "any" in questions and negative statements.

Uncountable nouns can be made countable if they are placed in containers.

Would you like a cup of coffee?

Do you have any tea?

Use "any" in questions and negative statements.

I'm afraid not. Can I get you some water?

Always use "some" with uncountable nouns, not "a," "an," or a number.

Conference tips:

Going to a conference is one of the best ways to network and make new business connections.

- It is really important to make a good first impression. Remember, you might be talking to a future client or employer.

- Dress professionally and always behave politely. Most importantly, show an interest in the person you are talking to. Find out their name; ask them what they do and ask about their family. This, in turn, will make them more likely to ask about you.

40.9 READ THE ARTICLE AND MARK THE CORRECT SUMMARY

MEALS AND DEALS

Business lunches can be a great way to get to know your clients, but be careful about who you invite to lunch. CEOs, for example, have busy schedules, and it may be better to invite them for coffee. If you do invite someone to lunch, you should read about the local dining etiquette. You could also present your guest with several dining options before making a restaurant reservation. Once you arrive at the restaurant, turn off your phone. Your guests should have all your attention. If you are a guest yourself, arrive on time, and make sure that you do not order the most expensive thing on the menu. Last, as host or guest, try to enjoy yourself.

Hi, Miguel. It's Tana from finance.

Use "Could" instead of "Can" to make a request even more polite.

Hi. Can I speak to Jan, please?

This means "I'm Jan."

Speaking. How can I help you?

You can also identify yourself by saying the name of your department.

Hello, IT department.

Hi. I'm calling because my computer screen has frozen.

This is polite, but still fairly informal.

Can I ask who's calling, please?

Polite alternative to "yes."

Of course. It's Oliver Timms.

Use this to offer further help or advice.

Is there anything else I can help you with?

Use this to politely turn down further help and end a call.

No, that's all, thanks. Goodbye.

This is an informal way to politely end a call.

I'd better be going.

You can also say, "Speak to you soon."

OK. Talk to you soon.

42.10 KEY LANGUAGE VERBS FOR PHONE CALLS

Informal spoken English, particularly in telephone language, often uses two- or three-part verbs.

I have to hang up now, but I'll call you back tomorrow.

42.11 FURTHER EXAMPLES VERBS FOR PHONE CALLS

I'll just put you through to the IT department.

BUSINESS TIPS

Problem phone call?

What to do with people who won't stop talking

We have all wanted to hang up on callers who keep talking when we are really busy at work. Sometimes, the usual, "I'd better be going" does not work. One thing you can do is to say that you have a meeting in another room and that you will get back to them later. Another tactic is to say, "Could you speak up, please? The line keeps breaking up. I hope we don't get cut off." Then put the phone down. If they call you back, don't pick up the phone!

43.1 KEY LANGUAGE FORMAL PHONE CONVERSATIONS

You can use formal language to introduce yourself, greet the speaker, and take or leave a message.

You can answer a call by thanking the caller.

Thank you for calling RDSystems.

Hello. I wonder if you could help me.

You can answer a call with the name of your department.

Customer Service. How can I help you?

I'm calling about an order I placed last week.

A more polite alternative to "can."

Could I speak to Rob Martin, please?

"May" is very polite and formal.

Yes, of course. May I ask who's calling?

Use this to say you will transfer a call.

Thank you. I'll just put you through.

Use "I'm afraid" or "I'm sorry, but" before negative news.

I'm afraid my manager is away at the moment.

Use this to ask someone to pass on a request.

Could you ask her to call me back today, please?

You can also say "Can I take a message?"

Would you like to leave a message?

Use "could you" to make a request more polite.

Yes, please. Could you tell Mr. Knox that I'd like to order five white plastic chairs?

43.2 MARK THE BEST REPLY TO EACH STATEMENT

43.5 KEY LANGUAGE ADJECTIVE ORDER

Adjectives add detail to descriptions and messages. When English uses more than one adjective before a noun, the adjectives must go in a particular order.

I've booked our team lunch at the nice little restaurant next to the office.

Adjectives describing opinions come before adjectives describing facts.

There's a large red car in the CEO's parking space. The driver needs to move it.

Fact adjectives also have their own order, depending on the type of fact.

43.6 KEY LANGUAGE ADJECTIVE ORDER IN DETAIL

English very rarely uses more than three adjectives before a noun.
